"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

"I dare not attempt to express my thanks for the honor you have conferred on me. My gratitude for the honor conferred is only equalled by the sense of severe responsibility imposed. I have always believed a 'public office is a public trust,' a public officer a public servant.

"I am here to preserve order and to assist in the dispatch of the public business. In my true position, I am a Speaker of the House of Representatives, an officer of the State of North Carolina, not Speaker of any class or party. I honestly believe that he who serves his country well serves his party best. I believe I shall receive the co-operation of all the members in furthering the interests of the State.

"My purpose, with your co-operation, is to better the order of business and to conduct it in a systematic manner.

"I will make no radical changes, but endeavor to undertake a betterment of the good order and decorum of this body. The method and order of business determine in great measure the character of the legislation which shall be the product of any body. To this end I hope to have—and I believe I will have—your cordial co-operation.

"I shall make mistakes, but all are liable to do this. My aim shall be to act for the best interests of the State of North Carolina.

PROTEST.

Mr. Reynolds presents the following protest, which is read and ordered to be spread on the Journal of the House:

"In the exercise of my constitutional right, I offer my solemn protest against Senate bill 111—"a bill to be entitled an act to amend the charter of the town of Winston, in Forsyth county"—to the end that it may be spread upon the Journal, and be a perpetual witness of unjust power and legislation, suppressing the popular will and voice.

First: As the Representative from Forsyth county, I declare that the above bill was never submitted to the citizens of Winston, and that it is a wanton disregard of their feelings, and in direct opposition to their wishes.

I prayed a delay of a short while before the Judiciary Committee, to which the bill was referred, and was refused. I also asked a day or two delay before the House of Representatives to consult with the citizens of Winston, which was also denied—not as a matter of justice, but simply because the adverse side had the power, accompanied with the will, to force legislation.

Secondly: The bill apportions the town into three wards, the lines of which boundaries are in accordance with the distempered imagination of the originator of the bill. The Third ward comprises as many, or more, voters than the other two combined, created so that the popular will and voice might be defeated, and a mayor elected distasteful to a majority of the voters of the town.

Thirdly: The restrictions placed upon registration are extraordinary and seldom to be met with, requiring a certificate to be presented from the registrar, by the elector, to the judges of election, whenever there is any question of the identification of the elector. Extraordinary powers are vested in the commissioners of the town, delegating to them powers, if they see fit to exercise them, to abuse the most sacred rights of persons in their liberties and property.

The undersigned, in offering this protest, does so with the perfect knowledge that it is a true expression of the feeling of a majority of the citizens of Winston, regardless of party, and, as such, begs leave to submit it.

JOHN F. REYNOLDS."

PROTEST.

Mr. Walser sends forward, and has read, the following protest, which is ordered to be spread upon the Journal of the House:

"We, the undersigned, members of the House of Representatives, do hereby enter our solemn protest against the infamous election law passed by this House, declaring it to be a dangerous thrust at the dearest rights of the poor workingman and uneducated citizen. It is a declaration against the free ballot. It is an insinuation that free and pure elections shall never again be known in North Carolina. It is an unholy seizure of the Ark of the Covenant, in which have been secure the liberties of the people, and the destruction of which sadly foreshadows the first step toward the extinction of popular institutions from the land. It is notice that in the future the ballot-box will play the part of juggler's hat.

When it was proposed to amend the bill by requiring the appointment of judges of election who can read and write—men of intelligence; men who could protect the election in the Democratic star chamber, fenced off from friends and other intelligent citizens who might exercise the good offices of friendship for him—the proposition was promptly and vigorously voted down. When it was proposed to amend by keeping the registration books open until the day before the election, in the interest of thousands upon thousands of poor, hard-working, absent laborers, the proposition was again stabbed to death by the Democratic party. And so on, ad nauseum.

Freemen—North Carolinians—Americans, will you stand it! Men of the Piedmont section—men of the mountains—descendants of the brave heroes of King's Mountain and Guilford Court-House, will you stand idly by and behold the last vestige of liberty torn from the temples which your fathers built, and on the ground of negro domination!

We trust that the passions, prejudices and motives which have placed this disgrace upon the statute books of our State will soon disappear, and that this diabolical legislation will not prove to be a Nessus robe to the future of the grand old State which we love so much.

We, the undersigned, President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, do hereby certify that the above is a correct abstract of the return of the votes cast for officers of the Executive Department, at an election held on the 6th day of November, A. D.1888, as provided by law, as compared by us in the presence of the two Houses of the General Assembly in convention assembled on this the 15th day of January, A. D. 1889.

(Signed) CHARLES M. STEDMAN, President of the Senate.

HOUSE RULES.

TOUCHING THE DUTY OF THE SPEAKER.

1. It shall be the duty of the Speaker to invite the pastors of the several churches of the city, and other ministers of the gospel, under such arrangements as they may make among themselves, to perform the service of prayer at the opening of the daily sessions of the House.

2. He shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House on the preceding day adjourned; shall immediately call the members to order, and on the appearance of a quorum, cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

3. He shall preserve order and decorum, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

5. Questions shall be put in this form, namely: "Those in favor (as the question may be) will say aye," and, after the affirmative voice has been expressed, "Those opposed will say no." Upon a call for a division, the Speaker shall count; if required, he shall appoint tellers.

6. The Speaker shall examine and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the Chair; but substitution shall not extend beyond one day, except in case of sickness or by leave of the House.

7. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially ordered by the House.

8. In all elections the Speaker may vote. In other cases he shall not vote, unless the House is equally divided; in case of such equal division, he shall decide the question.

9. All acts, addresses and resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker, and all warrants and subpœnas issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.

10. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

11. No person, except members of the Senate, officers and clerks of the two Houses of the General Assembly, Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts, officers of the State, persons particularly invited by the Speaker or some member, and such gentlemen as have been members of either House of the Legislature, or of a convention of the people of the State, shall be admitted within the hall of the House.

12. Reporters wishing to take down debates may be admitted by the Speaker, who shall assign such places to them on the floor or elsewhere, to effect this object, as shall not interfere with the convenience of the House.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

13. After the reading of the Journal of the preceding day, the House shall proceed to business in the following order, viz.:

(1). The receiving of petitions, memorials and papers addressed to the General Assembly or to the House.

(2). Reports of standing committees.

(3). Reports of select committees.

(4). Resolutions.

(5). Bills.

(6). The unfinished business of preceding day.

(7). Bills, resolutions, petitions, memorials, messages, and other papers, on the Calendar, in their exact numerical order, unless displaced by the orders of the day; but motions and messages to elect officers shall always be in order.

ON DECORUM AND DEBATE.

14. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address the Speaker.

15. When the Speaker shall call a member to order, the member shall sit down, as also he shall when called to order by another member, unless the Speaker decide the point of order in his favor. By leave of the House, a member called to order may clear a matter of fact, or explain, but shall not proceed in debate so long as the decision stands but by permission of the House. Any member may appeal from the decision of the Chair, and if, upon appeal, the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, he shall not, except by leave of the House; and if the case, in the judgment of the House, require it, he shall be liable to its censure.

16. When two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the member to speak.

17. No member shall speak more than twice on the main question, nor longer than thirty minutes for the first speech, and fifteen minutes for the second speech; nor shall he speak more than once upon an amendment or motion to commit or postpone, and then not longer than ten minutes. But the House may, by consent of a majority, suspend the operation of this rule during debate.

18. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no person shall speak, stand up, walk out or across the House; nor when a member is speaking entertain private discourse, stand up, or pass between him and the Chair.

19. No member shall vote on any question in the case when he was not present when the question was put by the Speaker, except by the consent of the House. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no member without the bar shall be counted.

20. Every member who shall be in the hall of the House when the question is put shall give his vote, upon a call of the ayes and noes, unless the House, for special reasons, shall excuse him, and no application to be excused from voting or to explain a vote shall be entertained unless made before the call of the roll. The hall of the House shall include the lobbies, gallery and offices connected with the hall.

21. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or if written it shall be handed to the Chair and read aloud by the Speaker or Clerk before debate.

22. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any two members desire it.

23. After a motion is stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn before a decision or amendment, except in case of a motion to reconsider, which motion, when made by a member, shall be deemed and taken to be in possession of the House, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.

24. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged; and no motion to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

25. A motion to adjourn or lay on the table shall be decided without debate, and a motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the House is voting or some member is speaking, but a motion to adjourn shall not follow a motion to adjourn until debate or some business of the House has intervened.

26. When a question has been postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted on again during the session, except upon a two-thirds vote.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same shall admit of it, which shall be determined by the Speaker.

28. When a motion has been once made or carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or succeeding day, unless it may have already passed the Senate, and no motion to consider shall be taken from the table except by a two-thirds vote.

29. When the reading of a paper is called for, which has been read in the House, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

30. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House shall be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place; a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be verbally made by the introducer, and shall not be debated or decided on the day of their being first read, unless the House shall direct otherwise, but shall lie on the table, to be taken up in the order they were read.

31. When the ayes and noes are called for on any question, it shall be on motion before the question is put; and if seconded by one fifth of the members present, the question shall be decided by the ayes and noes, and in taking the ayes and noes, or on a call of the House, the names of the members will be taken alphabetically.

32. Decency of speech shall be observed, and personal reflections carefully avoided.

33. Any member, after the expiration of the morning hour, may rise to a question of personal privilege, but if the question of privilege be decided against him, he shall not proceed, unless the ruling of the Speaker be reversed by the House.

34. Any fifteen members, including the Speaker, shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

35. No member or officer of the House shall absent himself from the service of the House without leave, unless from sickness or inability.

36. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee if he is a member of two standing committees.

37. If any member shall be necessarily absent on temporary business of the House when a vote is taken upon any question, upon entering the House he shall be permitted, on request, to vote, provided that the result shall not be thereby affected.

38. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded or altered without one day's notice given on the motion thereof, and to sustain such motion two-thirds of the House shall be required.

39. The members of this House shall uncover their heads upon entering the hall whilst the House is in session, and shall continue so uncovered during their continuance in the hall, except Quakers.

40. A motion to reconsider shall be determined by a majority vote, except a motion to reconsider an indefinite postponement, or of the tabling of a motion to reconsider, which shall require a two-thirds vote.

41. At the commencement of the session, a standing committee shall be appointed on each of the following subjects, namely:

After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by sections, before a question on its passage be taken.

47. Every bill shall receive three several readings in the House, previous to its passage, and the Speaker shall give notice at each, whether it be its first, second or third reading.

48. The Speaker shall refer all bills and resolutions, upon their introduction, to the appropriate committee, unless otherwise ordered.

49. The Clerk of the House shall keep a separate calendar of the public and private bills; and shall number them in the order in which they are introduced; and all bills shall be disposed of in the order they stand upon the Calendar, except otherwise specially ordered. No public bill shall be twice read on the same day without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members.

50. All resolutions which may grant money out of the Treasury, or such as shall be of a public nature, shall be treated, in all respects, in a similar manner with public bills.

51. The Clerk of the House shall be deemed to continue in office until another is appointed.

52. Upon the motion of any member, there shall be a call of the House, a majority of the members present assenting thereto, and upon a call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk and the absentees noted, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over. The doors shall then be closed, and those from whom no excuse or sufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, if fifteen in number, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever to be found by special messenger appointed for that purpose.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

53. The previous question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question be now put?" and, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments and debates. If this question shall be decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution, or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall be taken upon such amendments, in their order, without further debate or amendment. If such question be decided in the negative, the main question shall be considered as remaining under debate: Provided, that no one shall move the previous question except the member submitting the report on the bill or other matter under consideration, the member introducing the bill or other matter under consideration, and the author of a minority report upon such report.

When the motion for the previous question is made, and pending the second thereto, by a majority, debate shall cease, and only a motion to adjourn or lay on the table shall be in order, which motions shall be put as follows: Previous question; adjourn; lay on the table. After a motion for the previous question is made, and pending a second thereto, any member may give notice that he desires to offer an amendment to the bill or other matter under consideration; and after the previous question is seconded, such member shall be entitled to offer his amendment in pursuance of such notice.

JOINT RULES.

1. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be forwarded.

2. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed in one house shall be rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the house in which the same may have passed.

3. Messages from one house to the other shall be communicated by their Clerks, respectively, unless the House transmitting the message shall especially direct otherwise.

4. It shall be in the power of either house to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

5. In every case of difference between the two houses, upon any subject of legislation, either house may request a conference, and appoint a committee for the purpose, and the other also shall appoint a committee to confer. The committee shall meet at such time and place as may be appointed by the chairman of the committee on the part of the house requesting such committee. The conferees shall state to each other verbally, or in writing, as either shall choose, the views of their respective houses, and confer freely thereon. 6. It shall be in order for either house to recede from any subject matter of difference existing between the two houses, at any time previous to conference, whether the papers on which such difference arose are before the House receding, formally or informally, and on such vote to recede the same number shall be required to constitute a quorum to act thereon, and to assent to such receding, as was required on the original question out of which the difference arose.

7. All joint committees of the two houses, and all committees of conference shall consist of three Senators and five members of the House of Representatives, unless otherwise specially ordered by concurrent resolution.

8. There shall be printed on joint order, unless otherwise specified, two hundred and twenty copies of all messages from the Governor, all reports of standing or select committees, and all reports or communications made in pursuance of law.

9. When the same document shall, by separate orders, be directed to be printed by both houses, it shall be regarded as but one joint order, unless otherwise expressly directed by either house.

10. The Clerk of each house shall receive from the Public Printer all matter ordered by their respective houses, and shall keep a book and enter therein the time of reception by him of every such bill or document, and the number of copies received, and shall cause each and any of such bills or documents to be immediately placed upon the desks of the members.
